

Who We Are

The British Columbia Aboriginal Network on Disability Society or BCANDS, is a non-political, community based, not-for-profit, charitable organization.

Established in 1991, BCANDS enjoys a long and successful history in the delivery of disability and health resources / information services and works in partnership with a variety of organizations, governments, communities and other stakeholders.

BCANDS is the only stand-alone organization of its type in Canada and is dedicated to both improving the lives of Aboriginal persons living with a disability, through safe and responsive multi-disciplinary / sectorial disability case management services and to the provision of relevant health resources and information for our communities.

To assist our clients, stakeholders and associated agencies in contacting our team in a cost neutral manner, BCANDS is pleased to provide a variety of options for you to connect with our services.

“To effectively communicate, we must realize that we are all different in the way that we perceive the world and use this understanding as a guide in our communications with others”
